About This Game

Welcome, bold adventurer! Card Hunter is an online collectible card game which blends together card play, deck building, tactical combat and fantasy role-playing in a way you've never seen before. Grab your cards, miniatures, dice and snacks, then journey to a new world of adventure on the tabletop of your Game Master, Gary.

Build your party and set forth on a grand adventure in the massive single-player campaign. Each adventure will challenge your deck-building skills and tactical prowess as you battle horrifying Black Oozes, savage War Monkeys and more.

Amass a collection of fantastical swords, shields and other adventuring gear. In Card Hunter's unique deck building system, equipping your party with these items builds your deck for you.

Enter the fray on a grid based battlefield. Prepare for turn-based strategy where you must play your cards right to defeat your foes and be rewarded with experience and loot.

When you're ready, challenge other players in casual games, ranked matches or regularly scheduled leagues. Can you rise to the top of this month's season? Can you and your undead minions triumph in the Graveyard Gambol league? Multiplayer Card Hunter is a never-ending challenge.

Don't want to face the monsters alone? Adventure co-operatively with one or two friends and share the dangers of Cardhuntria as well as the rewards.

When you're done with the huge core campaign, try out the adventures of Omin, Binwin and Jim from Acquisitions

Incorporated with an exclusive story written by Penny Arcade's Jerry Holkins. Then get ready for when robots and insane computers invade in the all new Expedition to the Sky Citadel set. Or, if you prefer your monsters from the murky mists of time, brave the challenge of prehistoric monsters and intelligent weapons in the fiendish Attack of the Artifacts.

Better than Heartstone. The game is fine but not without flaws. It's hard to get into, as you don't earn much money through adventuring. Many adventures are behind a paywall. The visuals are unique and very transparent. The gameplay is interesting but may become boring quickly. I can recommend playing it for a bit, but not as a long term time investment.. I never was a big card lover but this rpg card game is original, strategic, really fun and it's free!!! 8.5/10. this game is totally free, if you want play with your friends you need some pizza piece to buy premade token--100 piza pieces cost 16 euro i think thats so disgusting..... Its okay, not worth putting money into.. play dnd or any game like that you will have a better experience . Pretty fun.. being amazing!. A D&D-wannabe game that gives you 2 ways of winning: abusing the stupid AI and praying that the malfunctioning dice rolls will forget to screw you over when you need a high roll to survive.

Sadly, I'm an atheist, and the game smote me with a 1v663k outer to beat me. Save yourselves the frustration and just play Tetris instead, at least you'll get some bars.

Guys, to be quite honest, I don't know what to tell you about this game.

I'll just give it next 5k hours and see if it helps.. Pros: I was transported back in time 30 years, the flavor and feel of PnP RPG gaming is perfect. The metagame story is fun and interesting. Felt like the 1980s...

Cons: The micropayment cash grab is gross. You can play free for @30hrs, then you need to start buying access. Also: this game is a _very cheap_ strat game, with minimalist card building elements.

If you want to feel the nostalgia - play for free. Any other reason should be a pass.

I give it a thumbs up BARELY and only for the story and feels. The game is a grind - barely entertaining.. I beat the game way before it was released on Steam. It's a f2p board-game that's similar to Dungeons and Dragons. It's surprisingly addictive too. Highly recommended if you're into that type of games.. Card Hunter is a Daemoniac Hellspawn LoveChild of those dungeon hunting games and a nerd whom collects WoW merch's wet dream. Its a TBS that puts you in a world where the game is a board game and the game has board game vibes.

You play as yourself and you pick 3 characters to play, Warrior, Mage, Monk and 3 races, elf, dwarf and human. Each Race is better suited for a certain role, Elf is good for magic, human for monk and dwarf for warrior. Its a solid game with each dungeon/map/board completed (which may have 3 or so stages) rewarding you with items and money. It features a huge selection of gear, to max health give you new cards and things. Its not P2w, even though i haven't seen any PvP (if there is) and even if you don't get The legendary Cardboard Shield and Larp sword Gear you may be able to buy it off others.. Locks up my computer every time it starts (Steam and web version). I mean frozen, nothing works, I have to hard reset my comp. Absolutely ZERO HELP from the devs on this issue. Sent 2 support emails a few weeks ago, never heard back.. Before this was on steam, I played it at my colleges computer lab all the time. Safe to say I have well over a hundred hours into this baby. If you enjoy getting really really frustrated, I recommend it.. This Game is so unbalanced by the card draws all the way to abilities given to the enemies make this game impossible to enjoy after you've played your first level 10 dungeon as all of the enemies have attack and movement card every turn, unlike you and you constantyl are short on attack cards and are only given movemnet cards. even though i have a deck equipped that has only one reason to exist is to counter-act this problem and it will still happen non-stop. i HATED this game so much that i wish i had never found it more less heard of it.. Great free to play game. Good humor and fun quests.. A game where you laugh at geeks who play RPGs when you are one yourself.
